The Comparision of traditional and cluster resistance Band Training on New Metabolic risk and physical performance of elderly women

Authors:

Faramarzi@sku.ac.ir

sara.koochaki@gmail.com

University of Shahrekord

Shahrekord, Iran

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

Comparison of traditional and cluster resistance Band Training on New Metabolic risk and physical performance of elderly women

Authors:

Faramarzi@sku.ac.ir

sara.koochaki@gmail.com

University of Shahrekord

Shahrekord, Iran

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.

The study was conducted to compare the effects of traditional and cluster resistance band training on metabolic risk and physical performance in elderly women.